What is the difference between STYLES OF WINES? By Alene Uretz Wines are made in different ways for different tastes. Some are meant to be at room temperature while others like sweet wines and some others require aging. Some are meant to be drunk by the bottle while others are meant to be served by the glass. Some are meant to be served a single time while others can be used over and over again and some wines are meant to be used for a particular event. Some wines are meant to be savored alone while others are meant to be shared with family and friends. All this to make sure that the wines are appropriate for you. Many different factors go into making a wine or a particular wine. For example, the type of grape used to make the wine, the method of fermentation, the way in which it is stored and the time it is stored. If you are looking to purchase wine, you have to do it the right way. You have to know the type of wine you want. Know what suits your taste. If you want a particular type of wine, you have to find that specific kind of wine, the one that is to your taste. Wine labels are not very informative so it would be good if you seek advice from your
